

ADHD BUDGET PLANNER

A Dopamine-Friendly Way to Manage Your Money

By Daniel Tesfamariam | FocusFlow Prints

Designed for how your brain actually works.
Not another system that makes you feel broken.

HOW TO USE THIS PLANNER

Hey there, beautiful brain.

This planner was made for people who've tried every budgeting app, spreadsheet, and envelope system... and abandoned them all by Day 3.

HERE ARE THE ONLY RULES:

- Done beats perfect. A half-filled page is better than a blank one.
- Use pencil. You'll change your mind. That's fine.
- Only 5 spending categories. Seriously. Five. Not fifteen.
- One line per day for tracking. That's it. One line.
- Skip pages you don't need. There's no planner police.
- Celebrate every tiny win. Paid a bill on time? CHAMPION.

WHAT'S INSIDE:

- Monthly Budget Overview Pages 6-17
- Weekly Spending Tracker Pages 18-21
- Bill Pay Command Center Pages 22-23
- Impulse Spending Tools Pages 24-26
- Savings & Debt Visual Trackers Pages 27-30
- Annual Overview & Reflection Pages 31-35

MY MONEY SNAPSHOT

Let's start with just THREE numbers. That's it. Three.

MY MONTHLY INCOME (after taxes)

$ _____

☐ Steady paycheck ☐ Variable/freelance ☐ Multiple sources

MY FIXED BILLS (total of all monthly bills)

$ _____

(Rent + utilities + subscriptions + insurance + minimum debt payments)

WHAT'S LEFT (Income minus Fixed Bills)

$ _____

This is your 'choice money.' Let's make it work for you.

Not sure about the numbers? Guess. A rough guess is 1000% better than not starting.

MY 5 SPENDING CATEGORIES

Pick ONLY five. Fewer categories = less overwhelm = you'll actually track things.

1. _____ (example: food & groceries)
2. _____ (example: transportation)
3. _____ (example: fun & entertainment)
4. _____ (example: personal & self-care)
5. _____ (example: everything else)
