

ADHD CLEANING SCHEDULE & CHECKLIST

A 'Good Enough Clean' System for Real Life

By Daniel Tesfamariam | FocusFlow Prints

CLEANING WITH ADHD (NOT AGAINST IT)

Your home doesn't need to be Instagram-perfect. It needs to be LIVEABLE.

This system works because:

- One room per day (not the whole house)
- 'Bare minimum' daily list = 5 minutes MAX
- Sprint timers make it a game (ADHD loves games)
- Checklists give dopamine hits (check! check! check!)
- 'Before guests' panic guide for emergencies

DAILY BARE MINIMUM (5 minutes)

Do these 5 things. ONLY these 5. Then you're done for the day.

- ☐ 1. Dishes in dishwasher (or at least in the sink)
- ☐ 2. Wipe one counter
- ☐ 3. One load of laundry (start OR fold OR put away)
- ☐ 4. Pick up 5 things off the floor
- ☐ 5. Take out trash if full

THAT'S IT. You cleaned today. Gold star.

WEEKLY CLEANING SCHEDULE

One focus area per day. You're not cleaning EVERYTHING every day.

Monday -> Kitchen
Tuesday -> Bathroom
Wednesday -> Bedroom
Thursday -> Living Room
Friday -> Floors (whole house)
Saturday -> Laundry catch-up
Sunday -> REST (or light tidy)

Didn't do today's room? Move it to tomorrow. No guilt spiral allowed.

5-MINUTE CLEANING SPRINTS

Set a timer. Race yourself. Stop when it beeps. DONE.

SPRINT CHALLENGES (pick one, set timer, GO!):

- ☐ Clear & wipe all counters
- ☐ Pick up everything on the floor in one room
- ☐ Sort one junk drawer
- ☐ Wipe all mirrors/glass
- ☐ Fold one basket of laundry
- ☐ Clear off the dining table
- ☐ Organize under the sink
- ☐ Wipe all door handles & light switches
- ☐ Clear your car's front seat
- ☐ Organize one shelf

Sprints completed this week: ____/7 (even 1 is great!)

BEFORE GUESTS ARRIVE - PANIC CLEAN

Someone's coming over. Here's what to hit based on your time:

15 MINUTES:

- Clear surfaces they'll see (stuff goes in a 'hide box')
- Wipe bathroom sink + toilet
- Light a candle (covers a multitude of sins)

30 MINUTES:

- All of the above PLUS:
- Quick vacuum main areas
- Kitchen counters clear
- Close bedroom doors

60 MINUTES:

- All of the above PLUS:
- Mop kitchen/bathroom
- Full bathroom clean
- Fluff pillows & fold blankets
